

Molly Bingham Biography

Molly is President and CEO of Orb Media, a non-profit journalism organization whose research and global reporting produces stories that matter to billions of people around the world. Orb simultaneously publishes with members of its Orb Media Network, a group of the world's agenda setting media, reaching audiences in 180+ countries. By working this way Orb's journalism catalyzes global dialogue, generating change.

She is an award winning journalist, photojournalist and filmmaker. Ms. Bingham has covered news and conflicts primarily in Central Africa and the Middle East, and her work has been featured in leading media outlets, including The New York Times, The Washington Post, The Guardian, Harper's Magazine, The Independent, Vanity Fair. She has appeared on top network and cable television and radio news programs and was named in 2012 by the Columbia Journalism Review as one of "20 Women to Watch" in journalism.

Ms. Bingham has been awarded Pictures of the Year awards for her photojournalism work. As co-director of the documentary film Meeting Resistance Bingham was awarded the "Golden Award" at the 2007 Al Jazeera International Documentary Film Festival and the "Best Documentary Courage in Filmmaking" Award by the 2007 Women Film Critics Circle, among others. Her written piece, "Ordinary Warriors" published in Vanity Fair was awarded an honorable mention by the Overseas Press Club for the Madeline Dane Ross Award.

Bingham is a Trustee of The Listen Campaign, a UK charity that campaigns for the needs and rights of the world's most vulnerable children, and on the advisory board of This I Believe, a public dialogue about belief - one essay at a time.

Ms. Bingham is a graduate of Harvard College, a Nieman and a Sulzberger Fellow. She lives in Washington, DC.

Molly at TedXSMU,